- c. Meetings of the faculty may also be called by a written request signed by at least ten members of the voting faculty of the Department. Such meetings shall be scheduled within two weeks of the date the request is received by the Head of the Department or the Department Faculty Advisory Committee.

These appointments are by the Head of the Department after consultation with the Department Faculty Advisory Committee. An appropriate title will be designated at the time of appointment. Duties assigned to such faculty administrators will be Department-wide in scope, not relegated to a subdiscipline, and will assist in carrying out the missions of the Department.

ARTICLE III. DEPARTMENT COMMITTEES

Section 1. Selection Procedure

- a. The Department committees that are elected by the voting faculty are the Department Faculty Advisory Committee (DFAC), the Department Promotion and Tenure Committee, and the Department Grievance Committee. Election procedures are provided in Article III Sections 2-4. These elections, the election of Department members to the University Senate, the College of Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences Courses and Curricula Committee, the advisory vote on the Department External Advisory Committee, and any other special elections appropriate to the functioning of the Department, shall be supervised by the Head of the Department or the person(s) designated by the Head of the Department.

Before the final election process is initiated, each faculty member nominated will be contacted by a person designated by the Head of the Department in order to allow those individuals the opportunity to decline nomination.

- b. Unless otherwise specifically provided by these Bylaws all elections shall utilize the following procedure. Each member of the voting faculty shall have one vote for each position to be filled. Cumulative voting shall not be allowed. The election winner(s) will be that (those) candidate(s) who has (have) received the largest number(s) of votes.
- c. The members of the five policy committees in the Department will be appointed by the Head of the Department after consultation with DFAC, normally for terms of two years. Appointments will be presented to the faculty by the end of the Spring Semester. The policy committees are discussed in Section 5 of this article.

Section 2. Department Faculty Advisory Committee

- a. The Department Faculty Advisory Committee (DFAC) shall consist of six elected members.
- b. Term of membership on DFAC shall be two years.
- c. Eligibility for election requires membership in the voting faculty, as defined in Article I, Section 2, subject to the following restrictions:
 - (1) Departmental administrators holding the title of Associate Head, Director of Undergraduate Studies, or Director of Graduate Studies are ineligible for membership on DFAC.
 - (2) Faculty members who will be on an approved leave or who will otherwise be off campus for over four months of the first year of a DFAC term are ineligible for election for that term. Similarly, any member of DFAC who will be off campus for over four months of the second year of a DFAC term will be ineligible to continue for the second year of the term.

- (3) A member previously elected to DFAC for a full term and having less than one year's absence from DFAC is ineligible for election. Any faculty member elected for or serving a partial term on DFAC shall be eligible for election to a succeeding full term, so long as other eligibility requirements are met.
- d. The staff in the department as identified by the Head of Department shall elect a staff member as a non-voting ex officio member to DFAC. This member position shall be subject to the requirements of Section 2c.(3).
 - e. Elections of new members shall be completed each year no later than one month prior to the last regular Department faculty meeting in the Spring Semester. These elections shall regularly replace three of the six members of the existing committee. As part of the regular election, one alternate shall be elected to serve only in case one of the elected members of DFAC is unable to complete a term. An alternate who does not serve on DFAC ceases to be an alternate as soon as the next DFAC is constituted. A special election to fill any additional vacancy that may occur shall be held when and as the need arises to complete the term of the vacancy. If a specialized faculty member is not elected to serve as one of the six committee members, the specialized faculty member with the highest vote total in the most recent election will be elected to serve on DFAC as an additional member for a one-year term subject to the requirements of Section 2c.(3).
 - f. The term of office for all DFAC members shall expire on August 15 of the year in which their term is completed.
 - g. The responsibilities of DFAC are to: (1) perform the advisory function specified by the University Statutes and (2) offer advice to the Department administration, by invitation or on its own initiative, on any matter affecting the welfare of the Department. In order to fulfill these responsibilities, DFAC shall have access to any Department information that the committee decides is necessary for its deliberations, other than confidential personnel information.
 - h. The Department Faculty Advisory Committee shall elect its chair. The DFAC chair should ordinarily be a DFAC member serving the second year of a term. DFAC shall adopt DFAC Operating Procedures to guide its operation. Operating Procedures shall be adopted or amended by a simple majority vote of DFAC members after appearing as an agenda item. After adoption or amendment, a copy of the Operating Procedures shall be distributed to the Voting Faculty of the Department.

Section 3. Department Promotion and Tenure Committee

Departmental administrators holding the title of Associate Head, Director of Undergraduate Studies, or Director of Graduate Studies shall not be members. Faculty members who will be on approved leave or who will be otherwise off campus for over four months of the first year of their terms are ineligible for election.

When considering the cases for promotion of specialized faculty, up to two specialized faculty members who are voting members within the Department may be appointed by the Head to be included in the Promotion and Tenure Committee. The specialized faculty serving on the Promotion and Tenure Committee must be of the same track (Research/Clinical/Teaching) as the candidate.

Any elected member who will be away from campus for four months or more shall resign prior to leaving campus if there are four months or more remaining in that member's term. A member whose spouse's or partner's papers will be submitted or whose participation raises a potential or apparent conflict of interest will not discuss or vote on that person's promotion papers.

e. Elections

Election of new members to replace members of the committee whose terms are expiring shall be completed each year no later than December 15. As part of the election, one alternate shall be elected to fill a vacancy if an elected member is unable to complete a term.

At least five full professors shall vote on the promotion of a faculty member from associate to full professor. When five full professors, including the alternate, do not serve on the elected committee, a special election shall be held to select full professor(s) to vote on promotion from associate professor to full professor. The professor(s) chosen in the special election shall serve for one year.

An alternate who does not serve ceases to be an alternate as soon as the next Promotion and Tenure Committee is constituted. A special election to fill any additional vacancy shall be held if needed to complete the term of the vacancy.

f. Operating Procedures

Each year, the Promotion and Tenure Committee shall elect its chair. The Committee shall adopt Promotion and Tenure Operating Procedures to guide its operation.
